DECISION GRANTING FINAL AWARD OF ATTORNEY'S FEES AND COSTS<sup>1</sup>

On August 12, 2016, Anna Perekotiy filed a petition seeking compensation under the National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program ("Vaccine Program")<sup>2</sup> on behalf of her minor child, S.K., alleging that S.K. experienced a severe adverse reaction (including some developmental sequelae) to several vaccines that she received on September 18, 2013. See Petition, filed Aug. 12, 2016 (ECF No. 1). She later filed an amended Petition in which she alleged that <sup>1</sup> Although this Decision has been formally designated "not to be published," it will nevertheless be posted on the Court of Federal Claims' website in accordance with the E-Government Act of 2002, 44 U.S.C. § 3501 (2012). This means that the Decision will be available to anyone with access to the internet. As provided by 42 U.S.C. § 300aa-12(d)(4)(B), however, the parties may object to the Decision's inclusion of certain kinds of confidential information. Specifically, under Vaccine Rule 18(b), each party has fourteen days within which to request redaction "of any information furnished by that party: (1) that is a trade secret or commercial or financial in substance and is privileged or confidential; or (2) that includes medical files or similar files, the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of privacy." Vaccine Rule 18(b). Otherwise, the whole Decision will be available to the public. Id.

<sup>2</sup> The Vaccine Program comprises Part 2 of the National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act of 1986, Pub. L. No. 99-660, 100 Stat. 3755 (codified as amended at 42 U.S.C. §§ 300aa-10-34 (2012)) (hereinafter "Vaccine Act" or "the Act"). All subsequent references to sections of the Vaccine Act shall be to the pertinent subparagraph of 42 U.S.C. § 300aa.

S.K. developed a dermatological reaction after receiving the Hepatitis B vaccine on August 21, 2013 and the DTaP and IPV vaccines on September 18, 2013. Amended Petition, filed March 3, 2016 (ECF No. 14). I denied compensation by decision dated April 20, 2020 (ECF No. 55), and Petitioner's subsequent motion for review of that Decision was unsuccessful (ECF No. 63).

Petitioner has now filed a motion for a final<sup>3</sup> award of attorney's fees and costs. Motion for Attorney's Fees and Costs, filed September 20, 2020 (ECF No. 66) ("Fees App."). Petitioner requests a final award of $20,024.95—$18,634 in attorney's fees, plus $1,390.95 in costs—for the work of two attorneys (Ms. Courtney Van Cott and Mr. Andrew D. Downing) as well as the supportive work of one paralegal. Id. The costs requested include legal research charges. Ex. A-Itemized Invoice for Final Fees, filed on September 20, 2020 (ECF No. 66-1) at 5.

Respondent reacted to the fees request on September 28, 2020. See Response, dated September 28, 2020 (ECF No. 67). Respondent is satisfied that the statutory requirements for an attorney's fees and costs award are met in this case, and otherwise defers to my discretion the calculation of a proper amount to be awarded. Id. at 2, 3.

ANALYSIS

I. Petitioner's Claim had Reasonable Basis

Under the Vaccine Act, a special master may award fees and costs to an unsuccessful petitioner if: (1) the "petition was brought in good faith"; and (2) "there was a reasonable basis for the claim for which the petition was brought." Section 15(e)(1). I have in prior decisions set forth at length the criteria to be applied when determining if a claim possessed "reasonable basis" sufficient for a fees award. See, e.g., Sterling v. Sec'y of Health & Hum. Servs., No. 16-551V, slip op. at 5 (Fed. Cl. Spec. Mstr. Jan. 3, 2020). In short, the claim's reasonable basis must be demonstrated through some objective evidentiary showing. Cottingham v. Sec'y of Health & Hum. Servs., No. 19-1596, slip op. at 9–10 (Fed. Cir. 2020) (citing Simmons v. Sec'y of Health & Hum. Servs., 875 F.3d 632, 635 (Fed. Cir. 2017)). This objective inquiry is focused on the claim—counsel's conduct is irrelevant (although it may bulwark good faith). Simmons, 875 F.3d at 635. Reasonable basis inquiries are not static—they evaluate not only what was known at the time the petition was filed, but also take into account what is learned about the evidentiary support for the claim as the matter progresses. Perreira v. Sec'y of Health & Hum. Servs., 33 F.3d 1375, 1377 (Fed. Cir. 1994) (upholding the finding that a reasonable basis for petitioners' claims ceased to exist once they had reviewed their expert's opinion, which consisted entirely of unsupported speculation).

<sup>3</sup> I previously made an interim award of fees and costs to Petitioner and her counsel in the amount of $55,876.64. Interim Fees Decision, dated February 6, 2020 (ECF No. 51).

The standard for reasonable basis is lesser (and thus inherently easier to satisfy) than the preponderant standard applied when assessing entitlement, as cases that fail can still have sufficient objective grounding for a fees award. Braun v. Sec’y of Health & Hum. Servs., 144 Fed. Cl. 72, 77 (Fed. Cl. 2019). Under the Vaccine Act, special masters have “maximum discretion” in applying the reasonable basis standard. See, e.g., Silva v. Sec’y of Health & Hum. Servs., 108 Fed. Cl. 401, 401–02 (Fed. Cl. 2012).<sup>4</sup> The Court of Federal Claims has affirmed that “[r]easonable basis is a standard that petitioners, at least generally, meet by submitting evidence.” Chuisano v. Sec’y of Health & Hum. Servs., 116 Fed. Cl. 276, 287 (Fed. Cl. 2014) (internal quotations omitted) (affirming special master). The factual basis and medical support for the claim is among the evidence that should be considered. Carter v. Sec’y of Health & Hum. Servs., 132 Fed. Cl. 372, 378 (Fed. Cl. 2017).

Although it did not ultimately succeed, Petitioner’s claim had sufficient objective basis to entitle her to a fees and costs award. Petitioner’s good faith arguments were backed by many solid items of proof, and there was objective support in the record for core matters like proof of vaccination and the nature of Petitioner’s injury. Petitioner was able to offer some evidence suggesting that vaccines can cause or exacerbate atopic dermatitis generally. And Petitioner was able to preponderantly establish that S.K.’s course worsened post-vaccination, despite being unable to show that such worsening could reliably be vaccine-attributed. Respondent for his part does not otherwise contest reasonable basis. Accordingly, a final award of fees and costs in this matter is appropriate.

II. Calculation of Fees

Determining the appropriate amount of the fees award is a two-part process. The first part involves application of the lodestar method—“multiplying the number of hours reasonably expended on the litigation times a reasonable hourly rate.” Avera v. Sec’y of Health & Hum. Servs., 515 F.3d 1343, 1347–48 (Fed. Cir. 2008) (quoting Blum v. Stenson, 465 U.S. 886, 888 (1984)). The second part involves adjusting the lodestar calculation up or down to take relevant factors into consideration. Id. at 1348. This standard for calculating a fee award is considered applicable in most cases where a fee award is authorized by federal statute. Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 429–37 (1983).

An attorney’s reasonable hourly rate is determined by the “forum rule,” which bases the proper hourly rate on the forum in which the relevant court sits (Washington, D.C., for Vaccine Act cases), except where an attorney’s work was not performed in the forum and there is a substantial difference in rates (the Davis exception). Avera, 515 F.3d at 1348 (citing Davis Cty.

<sup>4</sup> See also Chuisano, 116 Fed. Cl. at 285 (cautioning against rigid rules or criteria for reasonable basis because they would subvert the discretion of special masters and stating that an amorphous definition of reasonable basis is consistent with the Vaccine Act as a whole).

Solid Waste Mgmt. & Energy Recovery Special Serv. Dist. v. U.S. Env'tl. Prot. Agency, 169 F.3d 755, 758 (D.C. Cir. 1999)). A 2015 decision established the hourly rate ranges for attorneys with different levels of experience who are entitled to the forum rate in the Vaccine Program. See McCulloch v. Sec'y of Health & Hum. Servs., No. 09-293V, 2015 WL 5634323, at *19 (Fed. Cl. Spec. Mstr. Sept. 1, 2015).

Petitioner requests the following rates for her attorneys and support staff, based on the years work was performed:

	2019	2020
Andrew D. Downing, Esq.	$385.00	$385.00
Courtney Van Cott, Esq.	$205.00	$275.00
Paralegal	$135.00	$135.00

Ex. 66-1 at 6.

The rates requested for the attorneys and for the paralegal work are consistent with what they have previously been awarded, and I find no cause to reduce them in this instance.<sup>5</sup> This includes the increase sought for Ms. Van Cott's work in 2020. Ms. Van Cott did not request an increased rate for her 2019 work on this matter, but the increase she now seeks for 2020 work is reasonable, consistent with her experience and the quality of her work in the Program, and is also a fair interval increase from what she might otherwise have received as an increase for 2019.

<sup>5</sup> Furthermore, the hourly rates requested are also consistent with the Office of Special Masters' fee schedule.

<http://www.cofc.uscourts.gov/sites/default/files/Attorneys%27%20Forum%20Rate%20Fee%20Schedule%202019.pdf>.

The hourly rates contained within the schedules are updated from the decision in McCulloch v. Sec'y of Health & Human Servs., No. 09-293V, 2015 WL 5634323 (Fed. Cl. Spec. Mstr. Sept. 1, 2015).

Schultz v. Sec. of Health & Human Servs., No. 16-539V, slip op. at 4 (finding an increased rate of $275.00 for Ms. Van Cott's work in 2020 reasonable).

III. Calculation of Attorney Costs

Petitioner also requests an award of $1,390.95 for costs incurred since the interim fees award, including Westlaw legal research charges. Ex. 66-1. Such costs are typical in Program cases, Respondent does not otherwise object to their reasonableness, and I therefore award them as requested.

CONCLUSION

Accordingly, in the exercise of the discretion afforded to me in determining the propriety of a final fees award, and based on the foregoing, I GRANT Petitioner's Motion for Attorney's Fees and Costs. I therefore award a total of $20,024.95—representing $18,634 in attorney's fees, plus $1,390.95 in costs—in the form of a check payable to Petitioner's counsel, Mr. Andrew Downing, Esq. The check is to be forwarded to Van Cott & Talamante, PLLC, 3030 N. Third Street Suite 790 Phoenix, AZ 85012.

In the absence of a motion for review filed pursuant to RCFC Appendix B, the clerk of the court SHALL ENTER JUDGMENT in accordance with the terms of this decision.<sup>6</sup>

IT IS SO ORDERED.
